2 Overture to Gulf Coast Presbytery

3
4 Whereas the 35th PCA General Assembly recommended the Federal Vision Study Committee Report as
5 faithful to the Westminster Standards; and

6
7 Whereas, the Westminster Standards while subordinate to the Scriptures of the Old and New
8 Testaments, have been adopted by the PCA as the standard exposition of Scripture in relation to both
9 doctrine and practice,

10
11 Therefore be it resolved that Eastern Shore PCA Session urge Gulf Coast Presbytery to adopt the 12 following recommended declarations as expressing the position of GCP on these issues; and

13
14 Be it also resolved that Gulf Coast Presbytery require candidates for licensure and ordination and
15 ministers transferring into the Presbytery to declare their views with regard to the doctrines in these 16 declarations; and

17
18 Be it further resolved that if any member of the court is out of accord with these declarations, he should 19 make his views known to the court per ordination vow 2.

20
21 Declarations:

- 22
23 1. The view that rejects the bi-covenantal structure of Scripture as represented in the Westminster
24 Standards (i.e., views which do not merely take issue with the terminology, but the essence of 25 the first/second covenant framework) is contrary to those Standards.
- 26
27 2. The view that an individual is “elect” by virtue of his membership in the visible church; and that
28 this “election” includes justification, adoption and sanctification; but that this individual could lose
29 his “election” if he forsakes the visible church, is contrary to the Westminster Standards.
- 30
31 3. The view that Christ does not stand as a representative head whose perfect obedience and
32 satisfaction is imputed to individuals who believe in him is contrary to the Westminster Standards.
- 33
34 4. The view that strikes the language of “merit” from our theological vocabulary so that the claim is 35 made that Christ’s merits are not imputed to his people is contrary to the Westminster Standards.
- 36
37 5. The view that “union with Christ” renders imputation redundant because it subsumes all of 38 Christ’s benefits (including justification) under this doctrinal heading is contrary to the 39 Westminster Standards.
- 40
41 6. The view that water baptism effects a “covenantal union” with Christ through which each baptized
42 person receives the saving benefits of Christ’s mediation, including regeneration, justification,
43 and sanctification, thus creating a parallel soteriological system to the decretal system of the 44 Westminster Standards, is contrary to the Westminster Standards.
- 45
46 7. The view that one can be “united to Christ” and not receive all the benefits of Christ’s mediation,
47 including perseverance, in that effectual union is contrary to the Westminster Standards.
- 48
49 8. The view that some can receive saving benefits of Christ’s mediation, such as regeneration and
50 justification, and yet not persevere in those benefits is contrary to the Westminster Standards.
- 51
52 9. The view that justification is in any way based on our works, or that the so-called “final verdict of 53 justification” is based on anything other than the perfect obedience and satisfaction of Christ
54 received through faith alone, is contrary to the Westminster Standards.

APPENDIX E

Preliminary Report on the Sabbath or Lord's Day Exception Issue

The Study Committee was appointed by the moderator of GCP for the purpose of offering to Presbytery an orderly manner to consistently address the matter of exceptions to the confession with regard to the 4th commandment, particularly with regard to the phrase worldly employments and recreations, found in the WCF (28:8) and Catechisms (LC 117; SC 60), and more particularly “worldly ... recreations.” It seems that phrase worldly ... recreations is what men most frequently take exception to, and with which we have struggled in determining whether or not “throwing a football with our son” (and such like) should be regarding as an exception to the intent of the Confession and Catechisms.

Partly at my instigation we ventured more broadly in our study, and I had hoped we would come back, not only with an answer to that immediate question, but with positive suggestions for how we might foster better use of the Lord's Day in our churches.

We have found it difficult to come to a consensus in the time we have had to study the matter. When you enter into the historical and Biblical/theological areas it becomes a rather large matter. But I think we are agreed that in many cases the real problem is not the phrase “worldly...recreations.” That phrase seems to have been directed towards a particular historical context. J.I. Packer explains that “At the end of the sixteenth century it was the Englishman's custom after church was over to pass the rest of Sunday in ‘frequenting of bawdy stage plays . . . may-games, church-ales, feasts and wakes; in piping, dancing, dicing, carding, bowling, tennis-playing, in bear-baiting, cock-fighting, hawking, hunting and such like, in keeping of fairs and markets on the Sabbath . . .; in ‘football-playing, and such other devilish pastimes’ (A Quest for Godliness, p 235). We DO think that watching football games and basketball games and such like falls into the same category as some of these, which is quite different from getting out and throwing a football with one's son for a little bit.

But it is the phrase “making it our delight to spend the whole time (except so much of it as is to be taken up in works of necessity and mercy) in the public and private exercises of God's worship” (WLC 117) that is the more challenging phrase, and one that might well forbid even throwing a football with one's son for a while. Although one might try to define “worship” in some manner that would allow for “family fun activities” in the sense of “worship-including-all-of-life-lived-unto-God,” it is doubtful that public and private exercises of God's worship could be so construed and remain in accord with the intent of the Westminster Divines.

1 So what are the options? What do we need to explore in our examinations?

- 2 1) We need to determine if a man believes that the Lord's Day is governed by 3 the 4th Commandment; i.e., whether the Lord's Day is the Sabbath moved to 4 the first day of the week on account of Jesus' resurrection.
- 5 2) If he does, we need to clearly point to these passages and ask whether a man
6 is convinced that the Westminster Divines have, in fact, accurately
7 expounded the revealed nature of the Sabbath command. If a man does not
8 agree that we are to spend the "whole time (except so much of it as is to be 9 taken up in works of necessity and mercy) in the public and private 10 exercises of God's worship," then he ought to take an exception. That 11 would obviously include devoting blocks of time to watching professional 12 sports and the like, both because it does not devote the "whole time . . . in 13 the public and private exercises of God's worship" and because it is a
14 participation in "worldly . . . recreations."
- 15 3) If a man takes exception to the Westminster view, then we need to have him
16 define precisely what he DOES think the Scriptures teach with respect to the 17 Sabbath and the Lord's Day. Are they synonymous? IF NOT, then the 18 Presbytery will have to determine if it can accept the setting aside of the 4th
19 Commandment as acceptable in a PCA minister? IF THEY ARE 20 SYNONYMOUS, have the Westminster Divines accurately expounded the 21 nature of the 4th Commandment?
- 22 a. IF THEY HAVE, does the examinee pursue obedience to that 23 command as expounded in the WCF and Catechisms?
- 24 b. IF THEY HAVE NOT, what difference does the examinee have with 25 the Confession/Catechisms? The Presbytery will then have to 26 determine if the examinee's view is acceptable, and what it expects
27 him to teach his congregation with respect to the WCF/Catechisms
28 and his views. For example, a man might think the Westminster
29 Divines went further than the Scriptures when they affirm that we 30 must spend the whole time (except so much of it as is to be taken 31 up in works of necessity and mercy) *in the public and private
32 exercises of God's worship, and think that the emphasis of the 4th 33 commandment is not limited to worship, but includes rest and 34 refreshment following one's labor.
